Center for Automotive Research, Automakers, Suppliers Recognize Michigan Governor Jennifer Granholm for her Contributions to the Auto Industry at CAR Management Briefing Seminars

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., August 4, 2010 – The Center for Automotive Research (CAR), together with members of CAR’s Affiliates Program, will present Michigan Governor Jennifer Granholm with a special recognition award for her contributions to the automotive industry. The award will be presented during the morning session on Wednesday, August 4, 2010 at CAR’s Management Briefing Seminars, held annually in Traverse City, Michigan.

The letter recognizes the Governor’s work during the automotive crisis, her role in securing federal support for the industry from the Bush and Obama Administrations, her leadership in securing and growing Michigan’s automotive research, development, and manufacturing endowment, and her vision in bringing the next generation of automotive technology and advanced energy storage businesses to the State.

A copy of the letter is included for reference.

The Center for Automotive Research is a nonprofit organization based in Ann Arbor, Mich. Its mission is to conduct research on significant issues related to the future direction of the global automotive industry, as well as organize and conduct forums of value to the automotive community.
